FAMILY HINDERS EXAMINATION.

Chicago, July 21.—Police investigating the shooting of Irvin C. Rawn, president of the Monon, it is ended, so far as the Chicago police are concerned, after yesterday's work. Assistant Chief Schmetter and the detectives said they are through with the case, as they rejected all theories that Rawn was killed by a burglar.

Police concluded Rawn committed suicide.

The attitude of the family, police say, in hampering an investigation, helped them to reach this conclusion. The family insist he was killed by a burglar. Two shots were fired. Police say no trace of a second bullet is found. They say the bullet which killed Rawn fits his revolver from which a shot had been fired. Suspended blood on the sidewalk proved to be red paint. Rawn was feeling an investigation in the Illinois Central's realm, frauds aggregating over a million dollars, in which he was vice president of the road, though he was not implicated in the frauds.

Conover Hoffman declares it impossible for the bullet which ended Rawn's life, to have been fired from a gun on which is based the burglar theory. On Tuesday Rawn confided to a friend that burglars had attempted to enter his house the night before and was driven away.

When the police arrived the family declared there was nothing to investigate and dismissed them. Rawn's business associates say nothing in his business affairs caused him to commit Rawn's son-in-law says it is impossible to be anything but murder and a crime that outside is absurd.

Recruits Are Wanted.

Instructions have been received at the Paducah army recruiting station by Sergeants C. A. Blake and Joseph Kresky from the war department at Washington, D. C., to recruit all desirable white applicants for the United States army. No applicants have been considered here for the past five months, owing to there being no vacancies in the service ranks. A large number of recruits are expected to apply within the next week. Captain George W. Kirkpatrick, of Evansville, will arrive here tomorrow night on business.

Walter Blackburn Goes Home. Walter S. Blackburn, of Marion, who visited the local office of the United States circuit court yesterday with Alie Ronald, clerk of the United States court at Louisville, returned home yesterday afternoon. Illinois Central Railroad Gets Option on Property on Kentucky Avenue Between Tenth and Tracks

Statement Made That Company Is Securing Factory Sites, But Belief Is General
It Would be Depot Site.

Options on property, fronting on Kentucky avenue between Tenth street and the Illinois Central railroad company, avowedly in the interest of the industrial department, have given rise to much speculation as to the real intention of the company, and the hope for a more centrally located passenger station is revived.

U. E. Jennings, the local real estate dealer, has been engaged the last few days taking options on property, said to include practically everything along Kentucky avenue for a block south of the tracks. He declined to state for what purpose he was working, but it was learned upon further inquiry that the Illinois Central is behind him, and the industrial department is supposed to be looking for factory sites, in anticipation of the growth of the city. Whether options extended to Washington street and Broadway is not known.

The location, however, is ideal for a down-town station, and the eyes of engineers of other systems, which have surveyed routes into the city, have been fixed on this territory. With the advent of more railroads, it is confidently believed that the Illinois Central will want a station close in, and a union passenger station is not beyond possibility.

E. W. Whittemore stated today that there have been more inquiries about real estate the last fortnight than for any similar period in years. Other dealers report the same wide-awake condition.

COTTON BELT

WILL COME TO PADUCAH OVER
N. O. & ST. L.

WILL Gain Access to St. Louis Over
Tracks of Iron Mountain Route.

Following the negotiations of a traffic contract with the Louisville & Nashville by the Cotton Belt, by which the latter railroad secures trackage into Paducah, Ky., thus forgoing its trunk system south of the Ohio there may be the Murphyboro, Ill., Republicana line, it comes out that the Cotton Belt will route through trains over the new Burlington line from Metropolis to Herlin, Ill., and thence over the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern tracks, through Murphyboro and to Forney. At Forney connection will be made with the valley branch of the Iron Mountain direct into St. Louis.

Members of the Illinois Railroad and Warehouse commission gave the new Burlington its inspection last Tuesday and Wednesday.

The coming of Cotton Belt trains over the Iron Mountain to East St. Louis means additional railroad facilities for Murphyboro. Both the passenger service and freight service will be increased, as all trains will be fast, through ones, right off the Cotton Belt trunk line. It will mean ten to twelve additional trains during every 24 hours, four of which, at least, will be fast passenger trains.

No Dogs Escaped.

While the driver of the city dog gathering wagon was on his way for some feed at the city stables this morning the horse took fright and dashed out through the city hall alley and south on Fourth street. He ran to Sixth and Adams streets where the wagon struck a tree and was partly demolished. There were no dogs in the wagon at the time.

Women Are Smoking The "Pimp Sticks"

New York, July 21.—Miss Lucy Page Gaston, of Chicago, founder of the Anti-Cigarette League of America, said she thinks it an outrage that Alice Roosevelt, Mrs. Nicholas Longworth and Miss Eleanor Roosevelt, a society leader of Boston, smoke cigarettes and encourage the habit. Miss Gaston is in New York at her headquarters for the campaign. She says the habit is alarmingly prevalent among society women and girls. She will send a reproving letter to Miss Sears and Mrs. Longworth with literature and arguments. She says many wealthy cigarette smoking women, of New York, are as depraved as any woman who walks the streets. She deplores smoking among men and boys. She will return to them later. She deplored the smoking by women in the privacy of homes, clubs and cafes.

A Roosevelt League.

Kansas City, Mo., July 21.—Excited by political events of the last few months, and bitter antagonism in Republican ranks in Kansas, Kansas City's leading business men last night formed a "Roosevelt National League" to perpetuate his policies. They believe that only Roosevelt can reunite the party. They will make efforts to establish a similar organization to other states. The governors of Kansas and Missouri are leaders.

SANITORIUM AT JACKSON'S HILL IS COMPLETED

Attractively Situated and Well Equipped City Institution.

For the Treatment of Tuberculosis Patients.

MEETING OF THE ASSOCIATION.

The Anti-tuberculosis Society sanatorium has been completed, and a meeting of the directors, and all who are interested in the work, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 4:30, at the Woman's club to discuss the plans of the organization and to try interest more people in the institution.

Mr. J. T. Donovan and Mr. H. C. Rhodes, of the building committee, took representatives of the press out to inspect the building this morning, and everything was found almost ready for its opening. The sanatorium is located on the Hinkleville road, about five miles from town, on what was known as the Potter farm. The city bought it a few years ago, to use as an additional cemetery, but it was unavailable on account of its location, being too far from the city. As a location, however, for an anti-tuberculosis farm, it is ideal. There are 137 acres in the tract, and the ground is high and rolling, thus affording splendid drainage.

The assessments are used by the city for the figuring of the city taxes as well as the county taxes. The assessments of the banks are: American German National Bank, $105,878; Citizens Savings bank, $188,751; Paducah Banking company, $87,718; Globe Bank & Trust company, $84,696; First National bank, $171,187; City National bank, $256,842; Mechanics & Farmers Savings bank, $41,013.

The assessments of the public service corporations are: American District Telegraph company, city and county, $3,883; Paducah & Cairo Steam Packet company, city and county, $2,800; Paducah Water company, city and county, $89,290; Paducah Transfer company, city $118,880, county $177,120; Paducah Light & Power company, city $135,060, county $168,825; Paducah Home Telephone company, city $16,000, county $19,500; Western Union Telegraph company, city $3,302, county $7,875; E. A. Voight Towing company, city and county, $25,000; Lovelaceville Independent Telephone company, county $4,47; East Tennessee Telephone company, city $114,108, county $128,371; The Pittman company, county $1,987; Postal Telegraph & Cable company, county $683; American Express company, city $811, county $4,817; Southern Express company, city $709, county $5,272.

AUDITORIUM RINK FOR TOBACCO WAREHOUSE

W. B. Kennedy, the well-known tobacco buyer who represents a large number of foreign buyers, has leased the Auditorium skating rink, Tenth street and Broadway, and will use it as a tobacco warehouse.

When completed the farm and sanitarium will represent an investment approximating $12,000 and will be one of the few similar institutions in Kentucky. Louisville has one, and Henderson is now trying to the organization of the building. The city council gave $2,500 and the other funds were raised by private subscription. The county has not given a cent, although the statistics show that more residents of the country are subjected to the disease than city folk. It is hoped, however, that the county will subscribe something to its maintenance.

Under the laws of the state, the sanitarium will be entitled to $12,50 a year from the state, for each patient who is entered, and the directors will apply for this.

The directors earnestly request the presence of every one who is interested in the white plague campaign at the meeting tomorrow afternoon.

No Dogs Escaped.

While the driver of the city dog gathering wagon was on his way for some feed at the city stables this morning the horse took fright and dashed out through the city hall alley and south on Fourth street. He ran to Sixth and Adams streets where the wagon struck a tree and was partly demolished. There were no dogs in the wagon at the time.

LOCAL OPTION ELECTION PRO- GRESSES AMIDST GREAT EXCITEMENT.

Fulton, Ky., July 21. (Special)— Amid scenes of great excitement Fulton's local option election is in progress today. Women and children are out in force, cheering on the dry and furnishing refreshments to the workers. The wet have two bands to stimulate their workers. There has been no trouble, and both sides claim the victory. The only arrest up to early afternoon was the service of a breach of peace warrant on one negro, when the wet lined up their colored voters at the polls. The wet claim the warrant is several days old and was held back for the opportune moment to delay and intimidate their colored vote.

Captain Ed Farley, state treasurer, is in the city. He arrived this week to attend the funeral and burial of his sister-in-law, Mrs. James S. Roberson, who was buried yesterday. Captain Farley probably will remain several days.

Requisition is Issued For John Hunt, Charged in County Warrant With Murder of Pool Road Victim

It is Probable That Dilicuity
May be Experienced in Collecting Reward if He is the Right Man.

Requisition papers for the return of John Hunt, in jail at Murphyboro, Ill., to Paducah on a charge of murder, have been applied for by local authorities and they are expected to arrive tomorrow morning. Detective T. J. Moore has been nominated by Commonwealth Attorney Lovett to go after Hunt and bring him here to face trial on the charge of murdering the unidentified victim found in the woods near the Pool road April 10.

Officials and attorneys are divided in their opinion as to whether the commonwealth will make out a case against Hunt. It is said that albeit establishing the fact that Hunt was not in Paducah on the day of the murder or preceding April 9, will be submitted at the examining trial. Hunt on the other hand, has been identified by H. V. Keebler as being the boy in company with the victim the day before the body was found.

Detective Moore probably will leave Saturday or Sunday for Murphyboro, if the requisition papers get here by that time.

Requisition Issued.

Frankfort, Ky., July 21.—As a climax to one of the longest and most persistent searches for a man accused of crime known in this state, Governor Wilson yesterday issued a requisition upon Governor Deneen, of Illinois, for the return to Kentucky of John Hunt, alias Harry Wilson, who is wanted in Paducah on the charge of murdering an unknown white man on the outskirts of that

WOMAN WILL FLY ACROSS CHANNEL

WIFE OF AVIATOR, WHO KNOWS
HOW TO GUIDE AN AERO-PLANE.

Paris, July 21.—Mme. Franck (Mrs. Frank Hawerton), will attempt to fly over the English channel in an aeroplane Friday or Saturday. She is the first woman to attempt it. Mme. Franck is now at Calais, superintending the assembling of the Farman machine. Henri Farman declared the woman is capable of handling a machine and the flight will be successful. Mme. Franck is the wife of the aviator correspondent of the London Daily Mail.

The jury in the case of Louis Furtrell and his father, J. S. Furtrell, of Model, Tenn., charged with the murder of Horace Osburn, a street car motorman, was not reported. Iawn Chicago. Wlnetokota authorities notified the press this afternoon of their withdrawal from the case, believing Rawn committed suicide. They will await the outcome of the coroner's jury next Wednesday. The suicide theory is based on the assumption that Rawn dreaded the coming investigation of the Illinois Central repair graft case. Insurance companies are preparing to investigate.

At 1:35 o'clock this morning the jury received the case after listening patiently for nearly 12 hours to the arguments. The jurors went to the hotel after receiving the case in charge of Deputy Sheriff H. V. Hill, and did not enter the jury room for a consideration of the evidence until this afternoon.

The arguments were begun yesterday morning about 11 o'clock, and progressed all yesterday afternoon, and practically consumed all of this morning. Misses Iva and Orlena Furtrell, daughters of J. S. Furtrell and sister of Louis Furtrell, have been present every minute of the trial. They have written home to their mother frequently during the trial, and appear much concerned over what the verdict of the jury will be. Both of the Furtrells have been out on bond, but at noon went to the county jail, where they will remain until the verdict of the jury is ready to report.

The Ladies' Mite society of the First Baptist church will meet Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Baptist headquarters, 120 North Fifth street.

WAS SHAKESPERE A POOR MAN?

NEWLY DISCOVERED DOCUMENTS INDICATE INCOME.

PROF. WALLACE UNEARTHED PAPERS IN AN OLD LAWSUIT THAT SUGGEST POET'S RESOURCES.

GLOBE THEATER'S PROFITS.

Every age has had its own conception of Shakespeare, but we of today are enjoying a newer approach to the man and his associates than has been granted at any other time since his death. For nearly half a century scholars have been saying that we should probably never learn anything more that was definite about the personal Shakespeare, but in the last six years I have had the privilege of finding among documents preserved in various English archives, and of reporting, numerous records relating to Shakespeare, his colleagues and dramatic rivals, and the contemporary theaters, which supply materials that enable us to a considerable extent to reconstruct the life of the poet.

Our first definite knowledge of Shakespeare's financial interests in the Globe and Blackfriars comes to us from the Oster-Henryng records (which I made public in 1909) and from the documents, now for the first time revealed, in the suit of John Witter versus John Heminges and Henry Condell. Previously we could draw only general inferences from exact data and conditions. A hundred years ago the theory was set going that Shakespeare must have disposed of any theatrical interests he may have owned about the time he may have retired to Stratford. It was inferred also, and is stated positively in most biographical notices on the basis of that mere inference, that he had no share in the theaters at the time of his death. This notion arose from the fact that in his will Shakespeare does not mention any theatrical interests, and from the erroneous supposition that a will devises all the property specifically. But the fact is that wills rarely enumerate all the testator's possessions.

Shakespeare's income from his theatrical shares is a perennial subject of debate which these documents remove from speculation. In publishing the Oster-Henryng suit last October, I called attention to the estimate of £3000 annual profit for Shakespeare's share, and gave warning that even that reduced estimate was excessive. Witter declares that his own income, previous to the burning of the Globe in 1616, and while he owned one-seventh of the moiety (that is, one-fourteenth of the entire property and profits of the theater, the name as Shakespeare then owned), was from £30 to £40 a year. This would not exceed from £240 to £320, or from $1,200 to $1,600 in the money of today. If we multiply that sum by fourteen, we shall know the profits of the entire company.

It is noteworthy that the amount of profit from one share in the Globe before 1613 agrees with the similar amount of £30 from one share in the Red Bull, as shown by new documents in "University Studies," and with a similar amount estimated at TURN OVER TIME.

When Nature Runs About the Food.

When there's no relish to any food and all that one eats doesn't seem to do any good then is the time to make a turn over in the diet, for that's Nature's way of dropping a hint that the food isn't the kind required.

"For a number of years I followed railroad work, much of it being office work of a trying nature. Most times were our busiest and eating too much and too quickly of food such as is commonly served in hotels and restaurants, these together with the sedentary habits were not long in giving me dyspepsia and stomach trouble which reduced my weight from 205 to 160 pounds.

"There was little relish in any food and none of it seemed to do me any good. It seemed the more I ate the prouder I got and was always hungry before another meal, no matter how much I had eaten.

"Then I commenced a fair trial of Grape-Nuts food, and was surprised how a small cancer of it would carry me along, strong and with satisfied appetite, until the next meal, with no sensations of hunger, weakness or distress as before.

"I have been following this diet now for several months and my improvement has been so great all the others in my family have taken up use of Grape-Nuts with complete satisfaction and much improvement in health and brain power.

"American people undoubtedly eat hurriedly, have lots of worry, thus hindering digestion and therefore need a food that is predigested and concentrated in nourishment."

from £33 to £53 for different periods from one-sixth of the Blackfriars prior to 1608, when Shakespeare's company took that theater and divided it into seven shares. After the Globe was rebuilt in 1614, the profits were greatly increased, Witter says, and he now offers to accept half a share, in lieu of the one forfeited, at a yearly rent of £13 6s. 8d., or, as an alternative, to take the profits from the house Heminges had recently been allowed to build on the Globe ground and from other houses there pay the rent of the entire property to Brend, and risk clearing there more than the £30 to £40, which he formerly received when each owned one-seventh of the moiety.

A large fancy has hitherto assumed that Shakespeare's yearly income from his share of the Globe was from £500 to £600 (in modern money possibly from £4,000 to £4,800, or from about $20,000 to $24,000 a year). Multiply that by fourteen, the number of shares at Shakespeare's death, or by 16, the number after his death, when Nathaniel Field was admitted, and we have a grand total of assumed profits of from £56,000 to £66,800 (about $280,000 to $324,000 a year for the company). This sort of a "biographical fancy" pictured Shakespeare as a shrewd business man who, having accumulated large wealth (perhaps half a million dollars), scorned the noble art of poetry after it had served such merely sordid ends, retired to his country home at Stratford, and there lived the life of a wealthy gentleman.

The Witter-Heminges pleadings supplement the Oster-Henryng records, and are also supplemented by them. Here, we have, Shakespeare and his associates in a precarious business enterprise that they have staked their whole future upon in democratic brotherhood. Failure or success affects not merely the financial return, but the dramatic effort of both playwright and actors. Throughout Shakespeare's plays and in the history of the company so far as we know it from records like these, optimistic ideals dominated the hard conditions.—Century.

At The Star Theatre.
An act that is entirely new to this country will open at the Star theater for Thursday, Friday and Saturday. It is a couple of European high-class French magicians, presenting a most beautiful and wonderful entertainment of magic, wonder work and magic illusions.

In one trick "The Novelty Flower Illusion," the ordinary tray is shown empty and instantly is loaded with white flowers and then the flowers change color from white to red before your very eyes. It is claimed for the McNamees, who but recently arrived in this country, that they are the biggest sensation on this circuit.

The real fun of the performance is in the hands of Austin and Klumker two blackface artists, who are real comedians with real comedy and real eccentric dancing.

Two reels of moving pictures will be run at each performance and Frank Long will render a beautiful illustrated song in Frank's best style. Admission 10c, children 5c. Two performances in the afternoon and two performances at night.

NEXT MEETING OF PADUCAH DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

DR. G. T. SULLIVAN REPORTS INTERESTING AND PRACTICABLE SESSION AT ARLINGTON.

Rev. G. T. Sullivan returned last evening from Arlington, where he attended the Methodist conference. Dr. Sullivan reported that the conference was well attended and that all of the business was wisely dispatched. The delegates were hospitably entertained by the Arlington people.

The session was held in the hand-some church recently erected. All the reports from pastors showed that the work throughout the district is in a splendid condition. Rev. W. J. Meoy, the presiding elder, wisely managed all the business of the session and was much pleased with the work performed by the preachers. C. J. Harlow, W. D. Dodds, J. F. Sears, Paul McNichols, were elected delegates to the annual conference which meets here in Broadway Methodist church November 9th. C. W. Morrison, and Samie Palmer were elected alternates. After the business session the conference adjourned at 5 p. m. yesterday to meet at Wingo, Ky., next year.

ROADS HOLD UP

COMMITTEE REPRESENTING CARRIERS AND KNAPP AGREE.

Pact Entered Into With Eastern Lines May Be Followed by Western Roads.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Important advances in freight rates recently made by the railroads in eastern classification territory will be suspended voluntarily by the railroads until November 1 next. This agreement was made by a committee representing the carriers and by Chairman Knapp, of the Interstate commerce commission.

Chairman Knapp authorized the following announcement concerning the voluntary action taken by the railroads:

"It is understood that the commission would exercise its authority under the new law and suspend all general important rate advances made for the purpose of increasing revenue, the principal carriers in official classification territory proposed today voluntarily to postpone the effective date of such advanced rates until November 1 next, and an arrangement to that effect was made after a conference with the commission.

"It is not unlikely that a similar arrangement may be made before the end of this week between the commission and the carriers in the Western Trunk Line Association territory. The carriers have taken this attitude in order to facilitate the work of the commission.

A newly married couple were beginning their honeymoon in a city hotel. The bride went out to do some shopping, and when she returned she found herself puzzled to decide which was their room. When she thought she had located it she tapped timidly on the panel and breathed:

"It's me, honey; let me in." There was no response, and she tapped louder and said:

"Honey, it's me, and I want to come in."

"Madam," said a gruff voice from the other side of the door, "this ain't no beehive; it's a bathroom." Everybody's Magazine.

Daily Thought.
Nor knowest thou what argument thy life to thy neighbor's cred has lent.

A remodelling sale of stamps and money orders world be in style, now.

An exchange says "Murdock skinned Cannon alive," which shows the political advantage of being de-caduous, like Mr. Bryan.

New Jersey is growing excessively modern, with Edward Townsend, originator of "Chimble Fadden", running for congress; Editor Ridgeway of the American magazine, running for mayor, and President Woodrow Wilson, of Princeton, running for governor.

The Rev. G. L. Morrill, pastor of the People's church at Minneapolis, in reply to strictures of the park police on "spoiling in public places," declared that Adam and Eve spooned in the Garden of Eden; but Dr. Morrill forgets that Adam and Eve were driven out of the garden.

"The newspapers are reporting a rumor as a piece of interesting news, that the Ballinger investigating committee would whitewash the secretary of the interior. As if that was news," says the Kentucky State Journal.

Also that the minority would stretch the facts to malign Ballinger.
As if that were news! Be fair brother.

The effort to secure an enabling ordinance for the merger of $700,- 000 worth of heating and lighting plants at Louisville with a $4,000,- 000 capitalization, is a satisfactory explanation of the visit of Mayor Head to Frankfort to urge the passage of an amendment to the Louisville charter, ousting the Republican city attorney, and providing for the appointment of his successor. Attorney Carroll, whom Head intended to appoint, attorney for the merging corporations.

Mr. Bryan's latest utterance that "Cannon is the Democrats' biggest gun" in the approaching campaign, suggests the possibility of capturing the enemies' works at the Cannon's mouth and turning their own guns on them. And, verily, the recent noise in Kansas sounded as if this particular big gun already was turned on some of the enemy, though Cannon himself averred that this is not war, but peace—the peace that passes all understanding.

THE MOTH AND THE FLAME.
It was not in the "red light" district, but down the "great white way" that Mayor Gaynor, of New York, despoiled of Epictetus and man of the world, strolled incog in the late hours of the night. One of the human moths that had fluttered into the blazing path of gorgeous folly and singed its wings, saw a quiet, modest, well-to-do looking party, with the air of a newcomer on Broadway at night about him, and dashed into him in the mad whirl of the midnight orgy in a popular "lobster palace." The silly moth put out the light on the "great white way." The mayor could not find in the philosophy of Epictetus sanction for the existence of any institution which a gentleman might not enter with immunity from the insult of flaunting vice. He left open enough places to accommodate the newspapermen, and now the actors, whose playhouses abound in the lobster belt, are demanding consideration. They probably will be accommodated, and the "out of town buyers" will have to resort thither, where probably they will see more notables and be subjected to less temptation any way, so far from home.

SYSTEM IN STREET BUILDING.

Lexington proposes to take advantage of the Allen paving law for second class alleys in a systematic manner, that well could be emulated by this city. It will pledge municipal credit for a half million dollars to re-construct all the streets of the city. The plan to permanently pave the streets instead of just graveling them seems most practicable under the new street law, authorizing cities to issue bonds to cover the cost of the work, which is assessed against abutting property and payable to the city in 10 annual installments for the redemption of the bonds with interest in ten years.

When people pay for the improvement of streets in front of their homes, it is not right to surface the streets with a substance that will be worn out and require the same expenditure over again before the property owners finish paying for the work already done. Permanently paved streets with brick, asphalt or bitulithic enhance the value of the abutting property beyond the amount it costs within the period of payment. This cannot be said of a dirt crowned street, that requires oiling or sprinkling constantly, must be repaired at frequent intervals, and is liable to complete destruction in times of torrential rains. The new paving law is especially adaptable to the permanent construction of city streets, but scarcely expedient for temporary work.

Moreover, the idea of systematic improvement is worthy of consideration. An unbiased, expert survey of the city should proceed a large expenditure of city funds and the imposition of a large expense on the property owners. We can understand and appreciate the desire of members of the general council to look after their own wards; but we cannot subscribe to such a policy.

This survey should include the further feature of extending streets, opening necessary alley ways and the conversion of cul de sacs into thoroughfares in order to make all parts of the city easily accessible to all other parts, and to give a direct route from the main roads leading into the country to the heart of the city.

In this survey, too, the park board should have a voice, so that the general park and boulevard system may be extended as the city is opened up, adding whatever attractiveness is possible to every section of Paducah, and developing the city beautiful and extensively with the city utilitarian.

Until the building of the N. & W. railroad through the southwestern part of West Virginia, the mail throughout all that section of the country had to be carried on horseback. For many years a man by the name of Goodwin Adkins, who resided at Wayne, seemed to have the inside on the mail contracts. He, for years, carried it on several of the routes whose terminations were at "Trout's Hill" or Wayne.

During this time he had an old "relay bank" colored horse, a small-sized animal, not weighing much more than a thousand pounds, if that much. In fact, for about six years this seemed to be about the only horse he kept. During these six years Adkins had the following mail contracts:

From Wayne to Warfield, weekly, round trip, 140 miles.

From Wayne to Cove Creek, weekly, round trip 50 miles.

From Wayne to Ceredo, round trip, 40 miles.

The total mileage for each week was 258. Thus it required the travel of 13,416 miles each year and for the six years that he had those routes would require a travel of 80,496 miles, enough to circle the globe three times and go over to New York on a fourth start.—Catlettsburg Tribune.

Mr. Bryan's latest utterance that "Cannon is the Democrats' biggest gun" in the approaching campaign, suggests the possibility of capturing the enemies' works at the Cannon's mouth and turning their own guns on them. And, verily, the recent noise in Kansas sounded as if this particular big gun already was turned on some of the enemy, though Cannon himself averred that this is not war, but peace—the peace that passes all understanding.

In compliance with an order issued by the Lighthouse Board at Washington, electric lights must be used on all bridges over rivers where electric light is possible. W. W. Buchanan, Inspector for the Fourteenth Lighthouse district, is so notifying owners who have structures across the Ohio river. It is claimed that all railroads and municipalities controlling bridges over navigable streams must use electricity for the channel signals. The order is the result of a petition from Pittsburgh Harbor No. 25 Masters, mates and pilots, to the Lighthouse Board Jan. 4, 1910. It was claimed that since the introduction of electricity the electric lights on the roadways of the bridges dim the oil lamps, making navigation difficult and hazardous, especially during the fall and winter months when there is a floating stage sufficient to ship coal.—Evansville Courier.

CUSTOMS COURT

MARKED BY ENTIRE LACK OF FORMALITY.

Business Before New Claims Tribunal of the Federal Government.

Washington, July 21.—Simplicity has been adopted as the motto of the newly established court of customs appeals. The judges have determined that the consideration of cases shall be thorough but that the proceedings shall be without trifles and without delay that can possibly be avoided. It is the court of last resort in cases arising from the collection of tariff duties. In the past the disputes were threshed out in the federal circuit courts but all the cases pending there have been transferred to the customs court. All the work of the new court will consist in considering appeals from the decisions of the general board of appraisers, the members of which are appointed for life and whose decision on the tariff is the highest authority in the government outside of court.

The dockets of the customs court show the filing of 256 cases. There are now 150 awaiting trial, of which 70 were transferred from the circuit courts. These will be disposed of at a session to begin on July 25.

Under the law an appeal from a decision of the general board must be taken within 60 days and the customs court must dispose of the case within 60 days.

At a hearing before the court argument is usually limited to an hour on each side. The decisions of the court are plain and concise and convey to the contestants, without waste of words, a perfectly clear idea of "What's what" in the controversy.

Danderine

Grows Hair
and we can PROVE IT!

DANDERINE is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow abundantly long, strong and beautiful. It at once imparts a sparkling brilliancy and velvety softness to the hair, and a few weeks' use will cause new hair to sprout all over the scalp. Use it every day for a short time, after which two or three times a week will be sufficient to complete whatever growth you desire.

A lady from St. Paul writes in substance, as follows: "When I began using Danderine my hair would not come in my shoulders and neck, it was very poor. Another from Newark, N.J., writes: "I have been using Danderine regularly. When I first started to use it I had very little hair, but now I have a full head of hair and thick hair anyone would want to have."

Not Even Condensed Cream.
"My dear," said the young husband as he took the bottle of milk from the dumb-waiter and held it up to the light, "have you noticed that there's never any cream on this milk?"

"I spoke to the milkman about it," she replied, "and he explained that the company always fill their bottles so full that there's no room for the cream on top."—Everybody's Magazine.

A NEW ROLE FOR THE CHURCH

DR. GLADDEN PROPOSES RADICAL EXTENSION OF LIFE

How the Church's Old Time Leadership in the Community May Be Restored.

A MUNICIPAL ORGANIZATION

It is safe to assert that the state of the Christian church in this country at the end of the first decade of the twentieth century is not all that could be desired. Without indulging in any pessimistic deplored or venturing on any percentages or estimates, I am content to rest this statement on the experience and observation of intelligent men. Put this question to any Christian minister: "Is your church today sustaining the relation to all classes of the community which you would like to have it sustain? Is it the measure of respect from the high and the low, the powerful and the weak, the learned and the ignorant, that you would like to claim for it? If you are a pastor of a good many years' experience, do you feel that your church is gaining in its hold upon the people round about it?"

The only way to judge of the true condition of the Christian church is to bring it into immediate contact with the character of Jesus Christ. It claims to be the body of which he is the head, the organism in which he lives and through which his life is manifested in the world. The primary question is, therefore, whether his life reproduces his life. If as much as it does not must its strength be impaired and its influence annihilated.

I do not wish to underrate that part of our Lord's ministry in which he sought to bring men into conscious fellowship with God.

That work of restoring the wayward and disobedient to the joy of sonship and the strength of virtue was never absent from his thought. We must not undervalue this, but we do not need to get into its proper perspective before our minds this other phase of our Lord's ministry. And there can be no doubt that his relation to the poor and friendless was the outstanding fact of that ministry.

We are comprising the life of the church of today with the life of its Master. How does it compare in this respect? Is it giving an equal proportion of its ministry to social service? Do the sick and the poor and the despised in our American cities think of the churches of these cities in the same way that the same kind of people in Galilee and Decapolis used to think of Jesus Christ?

Martin Luther's idea was that the care of the sick and the poor ought to be handed over to the community instead of being provided for by the religious organizations. His expectation was, of course, that the community—the municipality or the state—would be so thoroughly Christianized that this work could be safely intrusted to it. That was the idea of the New England church as also. When the town and the church were one, the church had had the philanthropic work in its hands; when the church was separated from the town, the church relinquished to the town this part of its function. But it was supposed that the political community would be so fully Christianized that the work would be properly done.

It is highly probable that the first Christian churches were municipal churches; that in every town or city was one church with several local congregations, each with its elder or leader, and all co-operating in the work of the city. The need of the hour is the restoration to every town or city of the municipal church. It ought to include all the Christians of the municipality; every Christian

WILL STOP BACKACHE LARGE MEETING OF DEMOCRATS

ILLINOIS DENOUNCES MEN WHO VOTED FOR LORIMER.

Strong Resolutions Adopted at the Gathering at Lincoln, Ill., Yesterday.

COME TO AID OF THE PEOPLE.

Springfield, Ill., July 21.—Democrats from all parts of the state gathered at Lincoln and in vigorous terms denounced the action of those Democratic members of the state legislature who deserted the party's choice for United States senator and voted for William Lorimer.

In resolution the convention endorsed the recommendation of the state central committee that two Democratic candidates be nominated in each legislative district in the state. Also commend those 24 members of the legislature who adhered to the primary nomine of the party for United States senator.

The resolutions further declare we, as the representatives of the Democracy of Illinois, do proclaim to the nation that we do not accept the responsibility as a party for Lorimer's election to the senate, and condemn the action of the Democrats in the legislature as being their individual action and repudiate every such vote for Lorimer as a party measure.

The resolution concludes with an invitation to honest and patriotic men to come to the rescue of the state and drive from power the Republican oligarchy and thereby restore good government to the people.

WHOSE SAND?

OWNER OF ISLAND WOULD RESTRAIN DIGGERS.

Suit Brought by R. L. Reeves, et al.,
Against Ohio River Sand Company.

Ownership of the sand and gravel in the Ohio river is contested in a suit filed in the McCracken circuit court by Robert L. Reeves and Gilpin Husbands against the Ohio River Sand and Gravel company, and Daniel Fitzpatrick. The plaintiffs allege that they are owners of an island in the Tennessee river near its confluence with the Ohio river, and since they purchased it in January, 1909, it has doubled in size. They allege that the defendants have wrongfully removed sand and gravel from the island, and seek to have the sand company restrained from removing the sand and gravel and to recover $100 damages. The suit is interesting, and the decision will attract much attention.

ALLEGED DEFRAUDER

ALEXANDER HOLLANDER ACCUSED OF FRAUDS.

Was Head of Brokerage Firm in New York—Disappeared in January.

Naples, July 21.—Alexander Hollander, wanted by the federal authorities at New York in connection with the customs house frauds, was arrested here today by an American detective named Paulin.

Hollander was apprehended under the name of James Bonham.

It is understood that Hollander was at the head of the customs brokerage firm of Alexander Hollander & Co., at 82 Wall street. He left New York last January, following the arrest of two of his clerks on charges of falsifying invoices and certificates of appearance.

Senate Widespread.

New York, July 20.—Alexander Hollander, who was arrested yesterday in Naples, has been the object of widespread search by federal officials for months past. He was an import agent, and in the course of right investigation by the federal government into customs house frauds early this year, he was indicted on charges of having conspired to defraud the government out of customs duties. The alleged method pursued by him was to prepare falsified invoices and certificates of appearance, collecting the full duty from his customers, but paying the government tariff on the changed documents.

A Spartan Father.

Recently a first-year high school pupil handed her history teacher what she evidently considered an
